

Curriculum Vitae

Masahide Oki

(Nagoya Medical Center)

Dr. Masahide Oki has been a chief of Department of Respiratory Medicine at Nagoya Medical Center since 2009. His main research interest is interventional pulmonology, and he has published a lot of papers in the field. He received Shigeto Ikeda Memorial Award from the Japan Society of Respiratory Endoscopy in 2014, and the WABIP-Dumon Award from the World Association for Bronchology and Interventional Pulmonology in 2016.